

Share your expertise – Become an ACL Training tutor

ACL Training is looking for experienced legal professionals to join our team of tutors and help shape the future of the Costs Lawyer profession. We are currently seeking tutors for our Civil Litigation, Professional Standards & Ethics, and Legal Aid modules.

As an ACL Training tutor, you will play an important role in supporting students on the Costs Lawyer Professional Qualification (CLPQ), delivering online teaching, providing academic guidance and feedback, assessing student work, and contributing to the quality and development of our programme.

This is a rewarding and flexible opportunity to share your knowledge, support the development of aspiring Costs Lawyers, and make a meaningful contribution to the profession while working alongside a passionate and supportive academic team. Modules typically run for between 4 and 12 weeks, with a weekly time commitment of less than two hours for teaching activities, making this a flexible opportunity alongside existing professional commitments.

If you have subject expertise, enthusiasm for learning and development, and would like to become involved in training the next generation of Costs Lawyers, we would love to hear from you.

For an informal conversation or to express an interest, please contact Estelle Ritter at ops@acltraining.co.uk